

March 2017

The ambient temperature in the pool house has been on the fritz for the past month. Kurt asked Mike's Heating company to replace the thermostat over a month ago when the temperatures first became erratic. Somehow there was a mix-up and the device didn't get ordered. Kurt followed up with the heating company to get a new thermostat ordered. Yesterday afternoon the temperatures returned to normal, 88 degrees. Hopefully the problem is fixed.
